

Dan: Helloooo listeners! Would you believe James needs to make another apology??

James: Would YOU like to apologise for being a bad podcaster? What kind of an intro was that?

Dan: My thinking was that you need to apologise immediately.

James: No 'how ya doings?' A bit rude isn't it?

Dan: Coming from you???

James: Well I'm working on my behaviour, I've been going to AA meetings.

Dan: Yes, and what happened there? For the listeners, why do you need to apologise?

James: I sat on the leader's head.

Dan: Why?

James: The Dominant Egg did it, so why couldn't I? In fact after I did, the other alcoholics copied me and sat on the guy's head, too. Sadly Charlie missed out on that.

Dan: Can you see how that would have been upsetting for the leader?

James: A bit unexpected maybe, but nothing serious...

Dominant Egg: Much like petting a dog. It's friendly. But petting as hard as possible.

Ben: You need to apologise, too. This cannot become normal behaviour.

DE: Are you trying to dominate ME?

James: He's been trying to dominate me too, Charlie.

Ben: No, that's the worst case of projection I've ever seen. I'm trying to work out who's the most self-absorbed, arrogant and entitled, you or the egg. It's always 'I dominate' with you, isn't it? But when you think someone is trying to dominate YOU, you get even more aggressive!

DE: I'm a strong egg and therefore have the right to dominate.

Ben: No you're not, you're an idiot.

Dan: It seems he doesn't know what entitled means...

DE: Doesn't matter, someone as important as me doesn't need to know.

Ben: Moron.

DE: I see...

Ben: I see? I see what?

(A zooming sound is heard)

Ben: Ah. You've just bounced on my head.

DE: I dominate again.

James: I do like you, Charlie. I just wanted you to know that. There are ups and downs in our relationship, but we're actually quite similar.

Dan: Charlie, if someone like James says something like that to you, don't you think something is wrong?

DE: Dan, I admit I've been doing a bit of thinking and maybe, just maybe, I do have an addiction to dominance...

Dan: You really admit that?

Ben: Surely not?

DE: It's true. I can't stop thinking about it. When driving to this radio station, I was thinking of dominating the other road users, pedestrians, you name it, dominated.

(A phone rings)

Dan: Hello?

Caller (crying): Hello... It's the AA leader... I've been repeatedly dominated and I don't know what to do!

Dan: See, egg? It's not cool to dominate, it just upsets people.

DE: I'm sorry, sir... But all my life people have been calling me The Dominant Egg. Now people are telling me NOT to dominate? You can see how confusing that is.

James: Yeah, and people have always called me 'mental'. Now I'm not supposed to be mental? That's confusing, too.

Dan: Did anyone ever tell you to be mental?

James: I did...

Dan: What do you mean?

James: I once looked in the mirror and said to myself 'James, let's be mental'.

Dan: See, that's not as good an excuse as Charlie's.

James: The voices told me to be mental, too. Happy now?

Dan: That was supposed to make me happy?

James: What, literally? Dear God no.

Caller: I want you to apologise!!

James: You know me, the egg, Eric, Fred, Harry, Paul, Johnny, Danny, Steve, and Ben, Peter, and Derek and Gary were just messing around?

Caller: Messing around??

James: Look, I'm kind of sorry we all sat on your head.

Caller: I was trying to help you all!

James: Oh you did, you did!

Caller: Say a real sorry!

Dan: Yeah, good luck with that.

James: Yeah, haha.

Caller: Say sorry NOW!

James: Look, it's not physically possible for me to apologise. It's not feasible. It's ridiculous, even surreal. I said I was just messing around and that should be enough.

Dan: I've honestly never heard James sound so nice before... Do you want something from him, James?

James: A new car?

Ben: Come again?

James: I was being too forward?

Ben: Yes you were.

James: So if I were to sit on YOUR head, Ben, and demand you buy me a new car, that would be ridiculous?

Ben: I think so...

James: Let's find out.

Ben: Sit on my head and I'll kill you.

DE: James, how would you like it if I sat on your head?

James: Sit on my head and I'll kill... Ah. I see the error of my ways, now.

Ben: You do?

James: I see the error of Charlie's ways... Not so much mine.

Ben: And as you'd be acting like Charlie if you sat on someone's head, NOW you can see the error of your ways?

James: This really is a tough one for me. The error of my ways, the error of my ways, hm.

Ben: In your own time.

James: Wow, wow, wow, the error of my ways. So you're saying it's hypothetically possible for me to have an error of my ways...

Dan: Please, take all the time you need.

Caller: But this podcast only lasts a few minutes...

Dan: No! You've made James defensive!

James: Yep, you've blown it.

Caller: I've blown it???

James: Yea.

Caller: I don't have to put up with this nonsense, I'm going!

Dan: James, what kind of a person are you?

James: By your tone of voice I'm suggesting not good?

Dan: Again, I want you to work things out for yourself.

James: My behaviour being not good. Ho hum ho hum. Not good? Hm.

DE: James, I really do think you'll grow as a person after I dominate you.

(Zooming and running sounds are heard. A door opens)

Ben: For the listeners, The Dominant Egg has chased James out of the studio, presumably in an attempt to dominate him.

(James is heard screaming)

Dan: If someone told me four years ago something like this could ever happen, I'd have laughed at them...

Ben: I know what you mean...

Dan: I mean this situation is GROSSLY bizarre...

(James is heard faintly): My hands are on my head, they're on my head! You CAN'T sit on my head now!!!...

Ben: I do worry about James, sometimes...

(James is heard again): He's lifting my fingers!!

Ben: I think in theory someone should hypothetically do something to stop this from happening.

Dan: A whacky theory...

Ben: Yes, like Schrodinger's cat...

Dan: THAT'S weird...

Ben: Yes, I wonder what's weirder; a cat being alive and dead at the same time or a mentally ill person getting beaten up by an egg superstar...

Dan: Huh.

Ben: Anyway, podcast over, bye listeners!

Dan: Later!