

Ben: Hello, listeners! Welcome to podcast 58! This time we have the Dominant Egg AND Simon Wiedemann here!

Dominant Egg: Hello. Sorry for ruining your special blog celebration, Simon.

Simon: That's ok, Egg. Let's not dwell on the negative, we're here to celebrate your latest blockbuster 'Go Karts: Faster than the Speed of Right.' We've all seen the trailer and it was fantastic.

James: Exactly. And whilst Simon thinks you ruined his blog Egg, I actually think you improved it.

Dan: Oh well how predictable of you. Let me guess, he improved it by being drunk and arguing with people?

James: You call it predictability, I call it consistent behaviour. Who wants to be around someone who acts irrationally? In many ways, I'm like a thoughtful nun. No, I am one.

Dan: Please God tell me you are joking.

James: About what?

Dan: You claiming you're some kind of a calming presence to be around.

James: Sure I am. How would you feel if I started being nice to you for once? Then all of a sudden I crash your car again? And now that I think of it, is me crashing your car what gets to you, or the fact you consider it predictable? Because if it's the latter, I can crash your car in a more unique way if you really want me to... I could wear a silly hat.

Dan: Well I wouldn't believe you were being genuine so that 'nice-bad' argument doesn't really work.

James: No, but say you were an even more stupid person and you did believe me. Then I went back to how I was. It would be worse, right?

Dan: I guess I'd be mad at you, but really it's hard for me to imagine me being even more so.

Ben: FILM! We're here to talk about the film!!!

Dominant Egg: How many times has James talked about crashing Dan's car now?

Ben: It could well be over 30. Maybe even over 40!

Dominant Egg: Is that an exaggeration?

Ben: You know what? I don't think it is...

Dominant Egg: It's just that if James finally gets fired and wants to apply for a job, won't his behaviour make it like, hard for him to get work? The thought of someone employing him sounds a bit... mad...

James: I have those same thoughts.

Dominant Egg: So?...

James: So, I could star in films like you...

Dominant Egg: And what role would you play?

James: A hobo.

Dominant Egg: Why a hobo?

James: It's just that that's what my teachers said I would become. They said 'do your work', I said 'no' and they were like 'well that's it then, isn't it?' Little did they realise I had a brain disease. End the stigma.

Ben: James, if you say 'end the stigma' once again, I swear to God I will kill you.

James: Embrace your mind, embrace your life.

Ben: That was an equally bad thing to say.

James: It's not my slogan anyway.

Ben: Yes but you've used it, and you've tainted it.

James: You're wrong.

Ben: What grades did you get in your final exams?

James: I actually got a B in music even though I didn't do everything I had to. I think that's pretty good!

Ben: And what other grades did you get?

James: Nope, that's it.

Ben: That's it? You didn't get any more grades?

James: Nope. Didn't do the tests. I alone brought the reputation of the whole school down...

Ben: The teachers had to face the reality some students did no work whatsoever?

James: Yep. Apart from in music.

Ben: And they had to publish your scores when comparing themselves to other schools?

James: Yeah.

Ben: That sounds terrible...

James: It was pretty bad for the school, yes.

Ben: Wow. I don't know what to say...

James: I know right?

Dan: How does that make you feel?

James: Errrr...

Simon: Your life is eerily similar to mine, James. I just want you to know. I don't crash cars, but I want to end the stigma, too. However, when I said that, others just laughed...

James: I'm so sorry.

Simon: It's ok.

Ben: To lighten the atmosphere, would you like to talk about people you find attractive, James?

James: No, too personal.

Ben: Ok.

James: Yes. And one more thing: Happiness starts within. Prioritise mental health.

Dan: Another stolen slogan ruined?

James: Yip.

Dominant Egg: Anyway, my film...

Ben: Yes this podcast isn't very good is it? If we can't talk about Lego for the 58th time, you hoping us to talk about your movie is a bit nuts.

Dominant Egg: How much time do we have?

Ben: Not long...

Dominant Egg: Ok. Well, that will have to do...

James: Balance your mind, elevate your performance.

Dan: SHUT UP!

...

...

Dan: Well done, James.

Dominant Egg: Right, my movie really is filled with a ton of action, but drama too. The protagonist of the film is a man in his early 20s who desperately needs to win the race. If he doesn't, his family will disown him for being a failure. However, I want to win the race so I can have a neat trophy, appear on the wall of fame and gain world wide fame. As I'm so fixated on victory, I start to neglect my family, but in the end I lose the race and end up hugging my son, the Extreme Egg.

Dan: How did you work the pedals and steer when racing?

Dominant Egg: It's a form of telekinesis, it's a very hard skill to master. But when you do, you become one impressive egg, which coincidentally is my middle name.

Dan: Dominant Impressive Egg?

Dominant Egg: That's right.

Dan: Who named you?

Dominant Egg: You're implying my name is silly?

Dan: Well, yeah...

Dominant Egg: Well I find people names to be silly. Dan, Ben and James? They're just random letters thrown together, like Hkofdsrew. With Dominant, Impressive, Egg, etc., you know what you're getting.

James: I think James means 'May God Protect'.

Dominant Egg: Where's the logic there?

James: I don't know...

Dan: Daniel means 'God is my judge'. I wish that was James's name...

Ben: Mine means 'son' which is disappointing. Really it can apply to any boy.

Dominant Egg: Yet you have a problem with what I'm called?

Dan: I'm just saying a person called 'Dominant Impressive Smith', 'Dominant Impressive Jones' or whatever would find it hard to get work. But Dominant Impressive Egg? A real no hoper.

Dominant Egg: I could call myself by my initials, only. Die.

Dan: No, never say that's your name.

Dominant Egg: Why not?

Dan: Just sounds a bit aggressive...

Dominant Egg: I could call myself 'de'. That's Dutch for 'the'. I am an educated egg, you know? That's what my chicken mum wanted to call me, but my dominant chicken father had the last word.

Ben: Why would you call yourself 'The'?

Dominant Egg: Better than Die.

Ben: Of course. Well we're out of time so... Bye!

Dominant Egg: Byeeeeeee.