

Another year has passed and another 365 days of shapes have passed as well. Some may say it's not really worth writing about hundreds of random words, but such people don't really understand how dull my life is. Don't worry though, whilst last year's shapes were relatively short, this year I did something different and mostly mentioned larger words. Variety is the spice of life, after all. Sadly however, I just think shorter words are funnier. I don't know why. Right the first word of 2025 on the 1st of January was...

Beeeeeee!!!!

What a way to start the year! Ok, that wasn't exactly a short word, but it was of course lengthened with extra ees!
