

You know when I said I almost never skip random words generated online? I just skipped 24 by mistake. Not repeatedly, that would be one of the most mental things I've ever done, I skipped a whole list of 24 in one go. It seems the word generator can only manage 24 words at a time, even though it said 25 would be fine. Only when I generated the second lot of words and ranked/numbered them did I notice the site's limitations. I guess 25 is just too intense. Not to worry, by pure coincidence I didn't have to reorder all my words when I used the site again to get that one more word I was after, as the lone word came in last place! Excellent feeling.

Here comes the worst word on the list!...

25th. Settlement

An agreement intended to resolve a conflict? I'd much rather not get into a conflict in the first place, especially as I find simply navigating tube systems to be fairly stressful.

24th. Contradiction

How would you feel if someone said to you 'you've passed your health check with flying colours!' then he said 'actually you'll die tomorrow'? Fortunately that's never happened to me, so the word isn't worse than the prior, but there is always the risk. Scary stuff!

23rd. Blow

Most blows aren't as bad the one just mentioned, but still the word can't rank highly. Even being given small unwanted tasks would annoy me. I also wouldn't like it if someone literally blew on me.

22nd. Consideration

Like 'blow' but a more uncertain word. Sure there is a chance you being considered will lead to a positive outcome, but it almost never does. I wouldn't like to be considered for jury duty, though. Oh good, that's not going to happen because no one in their right mind would respect my opinion. If I forget to take my meds for just one day, the trial will get REALLY weird.

21st. Slippery

Slippery things are almost always annoying. 'Slippery When Wet' by Bon Jovi mainly got positive reviews, but some find that annoying, also. Not me though, nice songs!

20th. Panel

We're moving into indifferent territory, here. I guess panels are useful at least?? Let's move on.

19th. Flush

You have to flush, it's common decency. Next!

18th. Print

I like it when things are printed, I suppose. There's just something about physical copies that beats reading from computers. Real life isn't perfect though, what would you rather, someone on a PC running towards you with a machine gun or a real person with such a weapon? That's never happened to me yet, but I do annoy people.

17th. Fox

Never have I had trouble from a fox. Then again, never has a fox given me something. My dog however, seems to find fox poo to be some kind of luxury perfume and rolls in the stuff even when told not to. I actually saw my dog looking shifty and sneaking up to fox poo!

16th. Chin

Sure you can't smell with your chin, nor can you see or hear with it, but you can grow stylish hair on it unlike on your eyes. I'm so glad hair doesn't come out of your eyes.

15th. Boy

Are boys better than girls? Fortunately I wasn't made to choose. But if I was? Hm. I'll just say boys.

14th. Dry

Come on, what would you rather, being dry or having an annoying boy hanging around with you? Let's be real here.

13th. Gown

I used to think gowns were things only hospital patients wore, so I put the things in 13th place. Very handy clothes. Then I found out they're more known for being women's dresses. Whoops. No, I don't like wearing women's dresses. Oh doesn't matter.

12th. Established

I'd love to be an established author, the first step is becoming a regular author. No, the first step is understanding what a book is. Is The Danger of Proverbs a book, is it a film? That's a question no one has ever answered with complete certainty.

11th. Wording

Very important for me at least...

10th. Language

Needless to say this one is more or less exactly the same as the prior.

9th. Different

Usually being different is seen as some kind of personality defect, but words like 'special' can be cleverly used to avoid judgement.

8th. Improvement

Would it be better if my personality was improved? Maybe. But I don't really think so, so this one comes a not so impressive 8th.

7th. Captivate

Oh if only I captivated people, instead I get material from the opposite. This is my best attempt at captivating people 'I like you. ;)' See, it's creepy it can't be done.

6th. Fuss

People HAVE often made a fuss over me but usually in the wrong way. However, you can make a fuss in a positive way too, at least in theory. Maybe I should stop winking at my friends.

5th. Dorm

You have to live somewhere, right? Try living in a gown, on a panel or in a toilet. The best option so far.

4th. Government

Like politicians or not, they are important. Anarchy doesn't work! If the Sex Pistols were true anarchists, they'd do everything themselves and would have only ever got around to producing about five CDs.

3rd. Acquit

Only a mental person would prefer captivating people over being released from prison. Give a hospital gown to such a man or a woman's dress, it doesn't matter, he's an idiot.

2nd. Freedom

What's better than being acquitted? Being free and never being in jail in the first place! I also like freedom of speech quite a lot. Maybe I abuse my right, but hey.

1st. Provincial

I'd love to own a province, so much better than living in a toilet!

And on that longing note, I've just done 25 words! Will I ever take things further? Maybe not as the online word generator can only come up with 24 words at a time. Unless I use the thing twice in a row maybe? Oh yeah, that's what I did this time. Silly me! Bye!