

Hello, this time I would like to apologise to Richard Branson for suggesting he set up a massive company that spams people by calling them, saying 'goodbye' and then hanging up. Even if his intentions were friendly, it's still annoying. It's bizarre behaviour from anyone in power, in fact. You wouldn't expect it from President Trump, The Pope, Angela Merkel, etc. Going in a darker direction, you wouldn't really even expect it from people like the author of The Satanic Bible, that being Anton LaVey. That makes my suggestion particularly offensive to Mr. Branson. Then again, LaVey died ages ago before spam was a thing. Who knows, maybe he'd love to spam people? But he sounds like too serious a person to do so, to me. Let's just check when he died... 1997? Oh, that's later than I thought. The term 'spam' was first used in 1993? Oh. In that case, let's ask A.I. if LaVey ever spammed people... 'There is no evidence' to suggest he ever spammed people? Told you, he's too serious. Note how I said 'serious' instead of 'sensible.' Obviously all religious people would naturally assume he'd end up going to Hell. Use your brain! Now as this is an apology 50 special, let's get the egg family involved.

Simon: Hello, Charlie, Wendy and Henry. Are you well?

Charlie: Pretty good. A bit hungover...

Simon: You're having a relapse?

Charlie: No, it's all out of my system, now. I'm just a little stressed how Henry has been graffitiing everywhere...

Henry: I said I'm sorry!

Charlie: Just don't do it again.

Wendy: You're not any better, you know, Simon? Fancy making 50 apologies already. You must be the most controversial person in the whole world!

Simon: I'm so sorry for being controversial. Oh I know what's controversial... eating the country's greatest military leader...

Wendy: It was an accident.

Charlie: That was a low blow, Simon.

Simon: I'm sorry. I guess I'm feeling stressed, as well. 50 apologies? Most people would be upset if they just had to make the one, you can't even imagine the lawsuits I have to deal with. From very high profile people, too.

Charlie: At least you don't have to worry about Anton LaVey...

Simon: Right, he'd cast a spell on me.

Charlie: Would Richard Branson cast a spell on you?

Simon: Well I don't know if he's THAT powerful... Oh thanks a lot, Charlie.

Charlie: What?

Simon: Now I have to apologise for even wondering if Richard Branson would cast a spell on me.

Dear Mr. Branson. I just want to make it 100% clear you would never cast a spell on me or indeed anyone, even if you had the ability to do so. Between you and me, I don't even think you have to, you're clearly very wealthy! You'd probably just spend your hard earned money to get someone to rough me up. :)

Wendy: Wooooah...

Simon: Oh no.

Charlie: THAT was offensive...

Simon: I've called him a violent gang boss...

Henry: Say 'sorry' again...

Dear Mr. Branson, you are NOT a violent gang boss and you REALLY aren't a gang boss who spams people and practices black magic. If you were, you'd be banned, you and your son. Richard banned son. And Richard Branson also banned, who's ever heard of that phrase? Not me, anyway. Yes, I've just Googled your son and there is no evidence to suggest either of you have been banned! Told you! Having checked, I also came across information saying you have ADHD and how open you are about that. I really do admire such honesty. It doesn't really compare to kinds of things I'VE been saying, but you did try so well done. I think I have ADHD, too. Well, it's either that or I find almost everything too boring to listen to, it's one or the other.

Charlie: I think I have ADHD, too.

Henry: I have kleptomania...

Charlie: What was that?

Henry: You know the museum heist in France? It was me.

Simon: Is that true?

Henry: Afraid so.

Wendy: I don't know what to say...

Simon: Well in that case, I'm going to have to phone Le Poisson Militaire. He may just be a fish, but he's now actually the country's most powerful and knowledgeable leader. Let's see what he has to say about your claim, Henry... Hello? Le Poisson Militaire?

LPM: Hello?

Simon: I'm just calling to ask if an egg broke into your country's museum and stole everything...

LPM: No there's no way that is true...

Simon: Are you looking for attention, Henry?

Henry: Well... maybe.

Wendy: Oh thank God!

Simon: Yes, that is a relief. I still feel awkward, though.

LPM: Is that all you want from me?

Simon: No, actually. Would you like to take part in this 50th apology special?

LPM: What have you done this time?

Simon: Oh, I've accused Richard Branson of all sorts of things...

LPM: Why?

Simon: I guess I got a spam phone call, I didn't know what it meant and it drove me mad.

LPM: Can you give a more thorough explanation?

Simon: Oh, I just 'went down the rabbit hole' so to speak. I wouldn't worry. Oh sorry, I have to go, someone else is trying to call me. Hello?

Caller: Hello. It's Richard Branson...

Simon: Oh I am so glad you called! I can't stress how sorry I am! I know you don't believe me!

RB: I feel hurt...

Simon: Of course you do. I'd be hurt if someone said that to me as well. Not surprised, but at very least concerned.

RB: Goodbye.

Simon: You're really going now? I was going to talk about offering you a gift. How about a box of chocolates to clear the air? Belgian!

RB: No only joking, I'm not going yet. I was referring to people calling you, saying 'Goodbye' and then hanging up.

Simon: Oh. Haha. Still though, it wouldn't be spam from you, technically speaking. Would you like to explain to my readers how you knew when and why to phone me up?

RB: No, bye.

Simon: Well, a man of mystery AND power.

Wendy: Maybe he has this place bugged...

Simon: Oh for God's sake. Do you have any idea how hard you're making this apology, Wendy? Do you? It's just horrendous accusation after another.

Wendy: Sorry, Richard.

Charlie: Still though, you have to wonder how he knew to phone you up...

Simon: He's psychic, there you go.

Henry: THAT'S impressive...

Simon: Yep, it's arguably more impressive than his huge empire.

Henry: Ask A.I. if he's psychic.

Simon: It will probably just say 'There is no evidence to suggest Richard Branson is psychic'...

Henry: Try anyway.

Simon: 'No, Richard Branson is not known to be psychic.' Told you. It continues by saying he once addressed people's various questions about him and he never spoke of any supernatural powers...

Wendy: Personally I'd say starting up so many successful businesses is a supernatural power...

Simon: You know what, I know what you mean. If nature is normal, super natural means more impressive than nature and it is arguably supernatural earning billions of pounds. Richard Branson is therefore supernatural.

Henry: Why did he say he wasn't, then?

Simon: He's very modest.

Henry: I want to be like him when I grow up!

Wendy: Right, you're not a criminal.

Charlie: Yes, you're not giving this proud family a scandalous reputation. Not now, not ever.

Simon: And you have every right to be proud. You're an A list actor, Wendy is very caring and Henry speaks like an egg twice his age.

Charlie: Thank you.

Simon: And on that proud note, it's time to wrap things up! Bye!

Egg family together: Bye!